

EUROPEAN CENTRE FOR HUMAN RIGHTS TRAINING

About our courses, services and prices

The European Centre for Human Rights Training (ECHRT) is constantly developing its online training services. We provide training for legal professionals, students and organisations in the field of human rights and training.

The courses provided are designed to be used online, on an individual bases. Participants can study in their own pace and have multiple access to activities and resources within the course. All courses provide our contact details. Participants can ask for individual support if they wish.

Courses are particularly useful for legal professionals who want to update their knowledge on recent developments on human rights or who need to have fast access to materials to solve problems and answer questions arising from their cases. This is what we call 'just in time' learning.

Our courses are designed to be integrated into other forms of training. Our courses can for example be used as preparation for face-to-face training, as exercise to better integrate theory, or to repeat the 'lessons learned' during training afterwards.

ECHRT is based in the Netherlands and provides a special block in Dutch language within the courses comprising an analysis of the impact of case law or human rights principles on legal practice.

The ECHRT has broad experience with human rights practice in various European countries. Our services comprise the development of similar blocks for other countries (or other specific needs) in cooperation with our client/ordering parties.
